

Dare

By Kenzie D'Amour

In the time of rough and tumble,
No chance for innocent fumble,
Dare was her name,
With a long gorgeous mane,

She was a tall fine creature,
Many came to preach her,
Dare bears no foal,
But this is her life goal:

"I wish to run the desert plains
Not to carry any flames,
I wish to be free,
And see how happy the world can be,

"Nobody can stand in my way,
Even if I'm endangered; I say,
I will never, ever stand down,
Until I run the world right round,".